County approves emergency funding for damaged roads

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

The Powell County Fiscal Court may enjoyed the fair being in town, but they also got down to business last Tuesday night. The court approved allowing the sheriff's department join in a multi-county jurisdiction organization and some necessary security measures at three of their buildings. They also approved the need for emergency funding after rain and flooding has taken out a few culverts and a bridge in recent weeks.

The court members listened intently as Powell County Sheriff's Department Chief Deputy Robert "Rog" Mathews addressed them about the program that would allow them to be able to assist in other counties. The program, known as BACKUPPS, has already been approved by both the Stanton and Clay City councils. It allows the officers to help in approximately nine counties that have joined together to be available if needed. It also gives officers a chance to be able to step in if they see something illegal in one of those counties as they are passing through transporting prisoners or other activities.

The example used most often deals with Stanton Police Sgt. Charlie Crabtree taking an arrested person to the hospital

County mourns loss of former coach Bill Orme

William T. "Bill" Orme, 86, former coach, educator and athletic director at Powell County High School passed away on Sunday morning, Sept. 14 at his residence. Orme was a former educator and coach at Bethel High School and Powell County High School.

At PCHS he coached from 1952-1965 and was athletic director from 1975-1985. His 1955 team was runner-up to Hazard, which won the state tournament that year. He picked up 253 wins as a head coach, most of them at PCHS.

He was a well respected member of the community and just a few years ago the basketball court at the high school was named in his honor.

He is survived by his wife, Nell Snowden Orme; one son, Mark (Lori) Orme of Franklin, TN; three daughters: Debbie (Billy Joe) Bush of Clay City, Sarah (Wayne) Shearon of Maumelle, AR and Ruth Ann (Gary) Daniels of Dallas, TX; nine grandchildren and 10 great grandchildren.

His funeral was held this past Wednesday at Hearne Funeral Home. He will be missed by a community that he loved and they loved him.

It's time for the Living Archaeology Weekend

The 26th annual Living Archaeology Weekend will once again celebrate Kentucky's historic and prehistoric heritage.

Artisans and craftspeople from across the country will gather at the Gladie Learning Center in the Red River Gorge to demonstrate specialized skills from past cultures.

During this two-day event, featured activities will include the making of stone tools, hide tanning, spear throwing, pottery, basketry, and native cooking. Wool spinning, blacksmithing and corn grinding will be exhibited near the historic Gladie cabin. The cabin will be open for tours.

Several Absentee Shawnee Tribe members from Oklahoma will be at the event to represent their culture and perform traditional native dance. The Shawnee nation once inhabited areas throughout Kentucky and surrounding states.

"The Living Archaeology Weekend is Kentucky's longest-running archaeology event conducted for the public," said Wayna Adams, Forest Archaeologist with the Daniel Boone National Forest.

"This event attracts hundreds of tourists each year who come to enjoy a glimpse into this region's cultural past. The activities are staged outdoors where the surrounding forest and towering cliffs help create the perfect setting for this type of event."

The Living Archaeology Weekend was recently recognized by Governor Steve Beshear in a proclamation that designated September as Kentucky Archaeology Month.

LAW will also receive the 2014 Education Award from Preservation Kentucky, an organization dedicated to preserving Kentucky's historic resources.

On Friday, Sept. 19 the program demonstrations are for pre-registered school groups only, primarily targeting fifth grade core curriculum.

"Nearly 1,000 students attend this event each year. Here, the students participate in hands-on activities in an outdoor classroom, providing them with an unforgettable educational experience," said Adams.

On Saturday, Sept. 20 the event is open to the general public from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is free.

The Daniel Boone National Forest presents this special event in partnership with the Kentucky Organization of Professional Archaeologists and the Kentucky Archaeological Survey. Other sponsors of the event include the Red River Historical Society and Museum in Clay City, the Kentucky Native American Heritage Commission, the Kentucky Heritage Council, the University of Kentucky Department of Anthropology, Western Kentucky University, Weisenberger Mills, and Frenchburg Job Corps.

The annual Fair Day Parade was held last Friday under an overcast sky, but the fun was brightened as the day went along. The Clay City Elementary float 'Alice in Wonderland-Wonderland of Knowledge' won the Overall Best Float ribbon, going along with this year's theme of "A Storybook Fair." Below, this year's Grand Marshall, Mildred Estes, waved at the crowd. Estes, 85, has been serving some of this county's finest home cooked meals to many of us since she was 16.

Bomb threat at PCHS disrupts day, alleged suspect taken into custody

Police and firefighters check high school after a bomb threat was found in a restroom.

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

Maybe it was the drill the day before or possibly just someone being bored. It may even have been someone who wanted to get out of a test or assignment. We may never know for sure. But a bomb threat at the Powell County High School last Wednesday did make something really clear. The police will waste no time to find who did it.

In fact they had a suspect in custody before school was out and transported to the Breathitt County Juvenile Detention Center before nightfall.

The events began to unfold near 1 p.m. when a note on a wall in a restroom indicated that there may be a bomb in the high school. The note also, according to police and School Resource Officers, indicated that the alleged device would detonate at 1:30 p.m.

So while firefighters were dispatched to the scene, with officers being advised soon thereafter, the students and staff were evacuated to the Stanton City Park. The school had performed a drill for just such an event on Tuesday.

Officers did a quick check of an area where some ceiling tiles had been moved, then set up a perimeter outside as the alleged deadline approached.

After waiting 10 minutes past the 1:30 deadline, teams of firefighters and officers searched the building. No device or suspicious packages were found.

As students were allowed back into the building, SRO's and officers began to review security tapes and check the handwriting. Officers were able to take a juvenile into custody and transport them to the Court Designated Workers office. From there the unnamed juvenile was taken to the detention center in Jackson.

"We want to make sure our students and staff are safe and we will take all necessary precautions to keep them safe," Powell Superintendent Mike Tate told the Times as he waited outside the school during the threat. "I believe we have done what we can and nothing was found, so we will return to class. But we can never take these types of things lightly and we will do what has to be done to keep our kids safe."

The entire event was over after nearly an hour. There were no other problems reported.

Stanton woman allegedly tried to hide needle under teens while being chased by police

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

A Stanton woman is behind bars on Monday after she's accused of trying to hide a hypodermic needle under a couple of teens and running from police.

Last Friday at about 6 p.m. Stanton Police Officer Phillip Frazier saw Nickie Jones, 26, in the Pine Creek Apartments area. Jones had a warrant out for her arrest for a 2013 vandalism case. Police say she allegedly vandalized someone's car causing over $2,500 in damages.

When Frazier tried to make contact with Jones, she took off.

During a brief police chase on foot, Jones tried to hide a hypodermic needle underneath two teens who apparently were just innocent bystanders.

Jones was arrested for possession of drug paraphernalia and for her previous arrest warrant.

She was lodged in the Powell County Detention Center.

Henderson announces Energy Committee to visit Mt. Sterling

The General Assembly's Special Subcommittee on Energy, which state Rep. Richard Henderson co-chairs, will be traveling to Mt. Sterling on Friday, Sept. 19th, with the goal of learning more about Morehead State University's and Morehead State University at Mt. Sterling's work in the aerospace and energy fields.

"I'm really looking forward to having my fellow committee members visit here so we can learn first-hand about the groundbreaking work being done by Morehead State," said Rep. Henderson, D-Mt. Sterling. "This will also give us a great opportunity to highlight our region to the other legislators."

The 10 a.m. meeting will open with welcoming remarks from David Points, the executive director of Montgomery County Community Development; and Dr. Gwen Sloas, director of Morehead State University at Mt. Sterling.

The agenda includes four Morehead State University professors who will focus on agriculture and energy; sustainable energy; the future of science and mathematics education; and space science.

The meeting will be held at the Clay Community Center at 3400 Indian Mound Drive in Mt. Sterling. The public is invited to attend.

COUNTY

in Mount Sterling a few months ago. While at the hospital he had to break up two fights and wait for local police to come to take over. Then on the way back to Powell County he had to stop and help an officer on a call.

The agreement would allow officers to do just that, but the liability and paying of the officers, would be the responsibility of the officers home department.

The court voted unanimously to approve the measure. Magistrate Ricky Creed was the only member not in attendance.

The court also approved three emergency declarations to deal with road issues. Two of them were in the Jerica Leigh Lane area. Both that road and Eli Lane suffered some damage as a culvert and a bridge were damaged in a flash flooding situation on Labor Day Weekend. Powell County Judge Executive James Anderson advised that the state saw no problem with the funds being sent to help, but the court could go ahead and start the necessary work while they waited.

The court had two bids to put two large concrete box type culverts in to help in the repairs. The bid to repair Jerica Leigh Lane was for $19,590 and the one for Eli Lane was for $18,440. The court approved the bids unanimously.

The court also approved an emergency declaration for Popular Bluff, which is located at the end of Echo Valley Road behind the reservoir. The state had already approved up to $5,300 for a new culvert and the bid received came to $5,220.

The court also approved placing new cameras and security measures at the Road Department, the Ambulance Service and the Transfer Station. The improvements would place up to 10 cameras at some locations, new recorders that could allow officials to tap in from other locations to observe happenings and an electronic gate at another. The cost for each location is $6,000 for the ambulance service, $6,300 for the transfer station and $11,600 for the road department. The road department will get the gate, remote controls and will have to have some wiring done to complete the project. A local security company, Protek, will install the measures. The vote was 5-0.

The court listened as the library board announced their tax rates, which was 5 percent of $100 assessed value of real property which is up from 4.9 percent last year, 5.7 percent for personal property which is down from 5.89 percent last year and the motor vehicle rate which is set by the state at 6 percent. The library also reported a "clean audit" and that all past problems had been cleared.

Mt. Parkway expansion/ construction gets $24 million

The Mountain Parkway Expansion, the first major extension and widening of a crucial transportation link to Eastern Kentucky in a half century, today received approval of a $24 million federal TIGER grant that will speed construction of a crucial segment in Salyersville.

U.S. Rep. Harold "Hal" Rogers and Gov. Steve Beshear have jointly sought grant opportunities such as the TIGER grant as part of their combined efforts to improve Eastern Kentucky known as the SOAR Initiative (Shaping Our Appalachian Region). U.S. Transportation Secretary Anthony Foxx shared the news of the grant awards, which will be formally announced by US-DOT this week.

"The widening and expansion of the Mountain Parkway in Eastern Kentucky is much more than a transportation project," said Gov. Beshear. "It's a transformation project for an Appalachian region that has been denied access to economic vitality because of inadequate infrastructure and limited mobility."

"The work to improve eastern Kentucky is a marathon, but we are excited about the milestones that we continue to cross," said Rep. Rogers. "There are many more projects on the horizon that will impact other counties in our region, and this announcement builds momentum around the opportunities that are growing through the grassroots efforts of SOAR."

The grant from the federal Transportation Investment Generating Economic Recovery (TIGER) program will allow construction to begin two years ahead of schedule on a congested 2.4 mile segment that will extend the Mountain Parkway from its easternmost end at U.S. 460 and KY 114 in Salyersville.

The current segment is a bottleneck - with more than 80 entrances for restaurants, stores, medical offices and other properties. The expansion will create a safer, wider highway with controlled access points and back roads to maintain local access while improving a corridor for commercial and regional travel between eastern and central Kentucky.

Kentucky will cover the additional $15 million needed to complete the Salyersville segment, which has an estimated cost of $39 million. Right of way acquisition is scheduled to begin by year's end and pre-construction work will begin next year. Construction is expected to be underway in the first half of 2016.

Widening the Road and Narrowing the Gap

The Mountain Parkway Expansion, proposed by Gov. Beshear and funded by this TIGER grant and the Kentucky General Assembly, will close the only gap in a 400-mile, four-lane, high-speed corridor for commerce and mobility across Kentucky from Pikeville to Paducah.

The 46-mile project will widen 30 miles of the existing parkway from two lanes to four lanes, and will extend the parkway another 16 miles by widening KY 114 from outside Salyersville to Prestonsburg.

Construction is expected to begin later this year on the first segment of the project, a parkway widening and interchange improvement project just west of Salyersville. The entire Mountain Parkway Expansion, which is expected to be completed in six to 10 years, has an estimated price tag of $753 million.

West Virginia and Kentucky AG’s stand up to EPA overreach

The American Coalition for Clean Coal Electricity (ACCCE) applauded Attorneys General Jack Conway (D-KY) and Patrick Morrisey (R-WV) for their continued leadership in standing up to EPA’s overreaching proposed carbon regulations.

“Attorneys General like Conway and Morrisey understand the importance of standing up to EPA, which if left unchecked will regulate Americans out of jobs and into supersized energy bills,” said Mike Duncan, president and CEO of ACCCE. “With all that is going wrong for this Administration, it is sad that the President continues to gamble with American’s economic security and our nation’s global competitiveness.”

Attorneys General Conway and Morrisey are part of a group of ten state attorneys general who have pursued litigation in challenging EPA’s authority to regulate carbon emissions from existing power plants under section 111(d) of the Clean Air Act. Attorneys General Conway and Morrisey hosted a press conference denouncing EPA’s proposal in advance of the Kentucky State Legislature’s Energy and Environment Joint Committee meeting that took place last week in Ashland, KY.

“I commend Attorneys General Conway and Morrisey for rising above partisan politics to lead the national effort opposing unnecessary and job-killing regulations,” Duncan continued. “We expect that as more attorneys general and state leaders realize the devastating impacts facing their residents under EPA’s proposal, the groundswell of opposition across the country will continue to grow.”

Kentucky and West Virginia stand to be particularly hard hit by EPA’s proposed regulations, not only because of their significant coal mining economy, but also because coal-powered electricity helps keep energy costs low for families and businesses. Kentucky gets 92 percent of its low-cost electricity from coal, while West Virginia uses coal for even more of its electricity: 95 percent.

Both states’ economies have already suffered from a number of other regulatory initiatives coming from the Obama White House, in the form of lost jobs and economic devastation. In many cases, jobs have left the state and have not been replaced. Energy costs for both Kentucky and West Virginia are significantly lower than the national average. Despite this fact, more than half of families in both Kentucky and West Virginia spend at least 20 percent of their after-tax incomes on power bills.

If implemented, EPA’s proposed regulations will further devastate both Kentucky’s and West Virginia’s coal industries, threatening potential job losses in the tens of thousands and forcing both states to dramatically reduce their use of coal, forcing an over-reliance on more expensive and less abundant resources.

Instead of regulating American coal-based electricity out of existence, the administration should work with the industry to bring about more advanced clean coal technologies. Today, American coal-fueled electricity is cleaner and more efficient than ever before. The industry has already invested nearly $120 billion to reduce emissions by 90 percent and is putting in an additional $27 billion between now and 2016.

Thanks for all you do!

On September 11, it was important to honor those who died on 9/11 and thank those first responders, police officers, firefighters and emergency medical technicians who continue to protect our communities.

Every year since that tragic day in 2001, employees at Cash Express stores across Kentucky and Tennessee and throughout the nation have visited first responders in early September to make a simple yet thoughtful gesture—they have delivered cakes to police and fire stations and EMT’s. This year at 9 a.m. on September 11 employees from Cash Express store in Stanton delivered cakes to all of our police departments, fire departments, jail and to EMT’s in our community.

Small gestures can carry big messages.

Cash Express is simply doing what many Americans feel on 9/11, a sense of thanks and respect for first responders. The tragic events on 9/11 unfortunately remind us that life can be too short, so we must say thanks and express gratitude when we can.

Mounting Silver to fight ISIS, Americans are sick of this

By GLENN MOLLETT
Guest Columnist

When I was a child I never got tired of watching the television program The Lone Ranger. He always rode in on his white horse Silver to save the day

Most Americans are sick and tired of watching the Middle East drama about Afghanistan, Iraq and Syria. Few Americans want to go to these God forsaken places and chance survival. Yet, already we have several hundred boots on the ground and we are sending more to organize Iraqi troops.

I am opposed to sending ground troops. Our pilots should be strapped with enough artillery in case they have to eject from a plane. They should have a chance to either shoot their way out if they have to parachute or take their own lives. I don’t think any of our soldiers would want to be captured and beheaded. None of us want to see our troops beheaded on YouTube.

Most Americans are outraged by the recent execution of our journalists. We continue to mourn September 11, 2001. We remember what terrorists did to an unsuspecting America. We grieve with the families who lost so many on that horrific day. We don’t want anything to happen like that again. Yet, few Americans are really emotionally ready to mount up and ride into the face of war.

I urge the President and Congress to work together and get the job done. However in this day and time that seems to be almost like asking the Sunnis and the Shias to work together. We messed up badly by going into Iraq. America did not make Iraq a better or safer place to live. Next, we messed up by thinking we could totally pull out and everything would be fine.

Are we going to mess up again? We need to unleash a fury of shock and awe against every ISIS stronghold in Iraq and Syria. However, where does America get another trillion dollars for this assault? Then, after we think we are done, will we be ready for the Middle East blowback that will come against us?

The Middle East has been plagued with tribal religious wars for thousands of years. America will never eliminate these wars. On the other side of the coin we can’t let them cut off our citizen’s heads while shaking a bloody knife at us.

ISIS is a cancer. All sane, reasonable thinking countries in the world must work together to eliminate this malignancy. Our President has said other nations will be working with us in this effort. That’s very vital. We cannot be The Lone Ranger riding in on our white horse to save the day. Our horse is sick and tired of it all and lone rangers rarely succeed.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

People helping people is why one resident likes Rogers

So many people get in a rush with life and jobs that they do not see a neighbor or disabled person in need. One man in our county is willing to go one step above his elected duty to help a friend in need.

Last winter was bad, bad, bad. When the roads were really slick, my husband and I cannot get off the the big, bad, slick hill of Pompeii. When the roads cleared and we were out and about we ran into our sheriff, Danny Rogers. Of course he asked how we were and we told him we hadn’t been out because I can’t drive the slick roads.

Danny told us from now on when we have bad weather like this and you need to take your husband to the doctor; or go grocery shopping or maybe even pick up medication from the drug store, you just call me and I’ll come and get him; or I’ll pick up his medicine or groceries and bring them to him.

What a wonderful Sheriff he is, to be willing to take time out from his busy job to assist a disabled person in need.

Lets keep this man as our sheriff for the next four years. He has been a blessing to us. Thank you Sheriff Danny Rogers!

Words of Comfort

In this world without God and without hope, thousands upon thousands living this way. Walking in darkness, blinded by Satan. Unknowingly following in chains, doomed forever without God.

Never to see or live in God's Heaven. Walking over Jesus and the cross where He died to save all.

Mighty Savior, who paid the price for all. Making us free from the power of Satan.

He arose from that grave the third day with all power in Heaven and Earth.

Why would you refuse His free gift of life? Forever with Him and the father in Heaven?

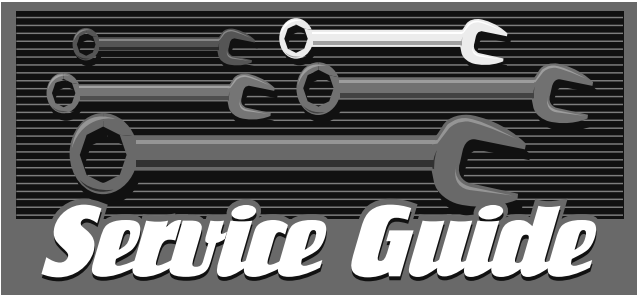

He is real and He is waiting for you to turn to Him and have hope and peace even in this troubled world.

I love you and I'm praying for you.

"I love coming to work each day at Toyota South. With our great products and helping customers buy them what could be better?

The day I started at Toyota South nearly 15 years ago Steve Gates empowered me to make decisions that satisfy customers.

The Gates family philosophy of dealing with people is simple.

When there is a question of who is right between the customer and our company the customer is given the benefit of the doubt.

No wonder I love going to work each day... it reminds me of my roots in Powell County.

Clark Regional enters Medline contest, needs your votes

Clark Regional Medical Center has officially entered the 2014 Medline Pink Glove Dance Competition for a chance to win a $15,000 donation to Relay for Life of Clark County and international social media attention. The filming may be over but these dedicated dancers need your vote!

The Medline Pink Glove Dance is the only campaign of its kind to bring together nearly 200,000 healthcare professionals, patients and communities to celebrate hope for a cure. It's also the only competition to honor all who've been affected by the disease through the joy of dancing.

The heartwarming and creative video features breast cancer survivor Debby Moberly with more than 50 community members dancing to Mandisa's song “Overcomer”. The dancers are all wearing pink-colored exam gloves to support breast cancer prevention and to let those facing the disease know they are not alone.

“To think that all these people joined together to make this video a reality is truly inspiring,” said Katy Hedge, Director of Marketing at Clark Regional Medical Center. “Our video is a meaningful and memorable way to remember, honor and support those dealing with breast cancer and we're so excited to be part of this movement.”

Clark Regional Medical Center has already raised $4,563 for Relay for Life of Clark County. If their video gets the most votes they will win a $15,000 donation to this local charity. The video features a balloon release in honor of those fighting cancer. To see Clark Regional's video and the other entrants, go to www.pinkglovedance.com.

To vote for Clark Regional Medical Center's video go to, <http://www.pinkglovedance.com/videos/2014-video-contest/stand-alone-healthcare-provider/clark-regional-medical-center/>, vote and share. Voting runs through Sept. 23. The winners will be announced Oct. 2.

“The passion and energy displayed by the thousands of participants is infectious and inspiring. They are all helping to make Medline's Pink Glove Dance a ‘movement’ in every sense of the word,” said Andy Mills, president of Medline.

The first official day of Fall is Monday, Sept. 22

More 2014 Powell County Lions Club Fair Fun through the Lens

Going to the county fair may seem a little old fashioned, but in a community like ours it is a much awaited event. Whether it was just enjoying a ride with “Goofy” or even riding on top of a fire truck like Pirates Assistant football coach Brandon Brewer and his daughter, Evalee Hope Brewer, did during the parade. Then of course there is always the honor of being selected as Senior Royalty for the parade as well.

The 2014 Powell County Lions Club Agricultural and School Fair is over now, but the memories made and fun shared will last a lifetime.

Encouraging word: More than beauty

Howard Coop
Guest Columnist

Time passes rapidly, and things change speedily. Summer is almost gone, and autumn, sometimes defined as a period of maturity verging on decline, is just around the corner.

On September 23rd, the sun, in its annual journey south, will cross the equator.

That event is the transition of the season that is known as the autumnal, or September, equinox. When that event occurs, day and night will be equal in length, and the season will begin to change noticeably. The hot and humid days of summer will be replaced with the lovely and more pleasant days of fall.

Autumn is a distinctively beautiful time of the year. Because of its beauty, some people say that fall is their favorite season of the year. Albert Camus called autumn “a second spring when every leaf is a flower.” The leaves of the deciduous trees take on an array of beautiful colors, for preparation is being made for a period of dormancy. Lauren DeStephano said it well. Fall is “The time when everything bursts with its last beauty, as if nature had been saving up all year for the grand finale.” William Cullen Bryant, America’s romantic poet, called autumn “the year’s last, loveliest smile,” and John Donne, the pre-eminent English representative of metaphysical poets, wrote, “No spring nor summer beauty hath such grace as I have seen in one autumnal face.” Helen Hunt Jackson summed it up when she wrote, “By all these lovely tokens September days are here, with summer’s best of weather and autumn’s best of cheer.”

But autumn is more than beauty; it is the time of ripening. The year is almost three-fourths over. Crops are being harvested, and everything is showing signs of aging. For some, autumn is a melancholy time to recognize that the bloom of youth is gone. Samuel Butler, the iconoclastic Victorian-era British author, wrote, “Autumn is the mellower season, and what we lose in flowers we more than gain in fruits.”

Pirates pounded by Prestonsburg, fall 40-0 in a ‘revenge’ game

By GREG MCINTOSH
Times Sportswriter

The Powell County football team was coming off of a lopsided loss to Lincoln County. The Pirates were trying to regain their Week One victorious ways this past Friday against Prestonsburg. Powell defeated the Blackcats last year and Prestonsburg had been thinking of revenge since that time. Powell won the coin toss and elected to defer to the second half, giving the ball to Prestonsburg to start the game. The Blackcats wasted little time in moving the football into Pirate territory. Prestonsburg scored on a 10 yard run and kicked the extra point to lead, 7-0. Powell got the ball deep in their own territory and quickly moved into Prestonsburg’s end of the field with a 37 yard run by Chance Snowden. A couple of plays later, Jake Whitt ran for 17 yards to put Powell on the Blackcat 15 yard line. The Pirates offense went away from the belly and into a spread offense. Powell was unable to get another first down and turn the ball over on downs. Prestonsburg moved the football on the Pirates as the first quarter ended. The Blackcats were stopped by the Powell defense and forced to attempt a field goal. The field goal was wide but a penalty for roughing the kicker was called on the Pirates. Prestonsburg used just 10 seconds to score again to lead 13-0. Powell’s offense could not get a first down and was forced to punt on a three and out. Prestonsburg again ran and passed their way down the field to another touchdown and a 21-0 lead. The Pirates offense was again stymied by the Blackcats and forced to punt. Prestonsburg scored again to bring the score to 27-0 at half time. Powell started with the ball in the third quarter but quickly fumbled. Prestonsburg returned the favor with a fumble that was recovered by Ryan Carmichael. Powell began to pass and Prestonsburg was ready. The Blackcats intercepted a Whitt pass and ran for a touchdown. The extra point was good to bring the score to 34-0. Powell had to punt again and Prestonsburg scored another touchdown bringing the score to 40-0. Both teams brought in mass substitutions for the fourth quarter and Prestonsburg cruised to an easy victory. The Pirates are now 1-2 on the season. Powell faces Lewis County on the road this Friday. Game time is set for 7:30 pm.

Powell’s Emily Watson returns an Estill serve last week as Powell hosted their arch-rivals in the 56th District. Powell won in three straight sets to take control of the district.

Lady Pirates grab control of 56th

The Powell County Lady Pirates volleyball team split their matches last week. They held on to beat Estill County in three sets. But on the road they fell to Garrard in three close sets. Last Tuesday, as the Powell County Fair was in full swing, the Lady Pirates had their own excitement as they hosted arch-rival and district foe, Estill County. In the first set, after a missed serve by Powell, the Lady Pirates managed to take the lead at 3-2. Then they pulled out to a 10-3 lead with six straight points with Tori Monnett serving. Three more points gave Powell a 13-4 lead, but Estill came back with a nine point run to tie at 13-13. The Lady Pirates defense held and they took a 19-16 advantage with Alicia Pelfrey serving. A four-point run on Emily Watson’s serves gave Powell a little breathing room at 24-16 and they traded points to take the win, 25-17. The second set saw the Lady Pirates never trail as they took the lead at 6-1 and kept that margin throughout most of the set. They won it by a score of 25-17. The third set saw the Lady Engineers take the early lead at 5-0. But the home team came back to lead 6-5. The last tie of the game was at 7-7. Powell took a 12-7 lead, and never gave it back, but did let Estill come back to within two at 23-21. The Lady Pirates then scored two to win the match, 25-21. That win put Powell ahead in the district standings with a 3-0 district record. Owsley stands in second at 3-1, Estill dropped to 1-3 and Lee is 1-4 in district play. Last Thursday as most of the county’s youth was at the greasy pig contest, the Lady Pirates had their own slippery time as they traveled to Lancaster to play Garrard County. The Lady Golden Lions slipped past Powell in three close sets. The scores were 30-28, 25-23 and 25-20. In action this week Powell was scheduled to host Perry Central this past Tuesday. But that had to be rescheduled as visitation for Bill Orme, a former coach and administrator for Powell County High School was held in the gym that night. Powell was also set to host Breathitt County on Wednesday before taking to the road for another tournament. This Saturday they will play in the Bath County Citizens Bank Throwdown. In that tournament they are scheduled to begin pool play with Lawrence County at 8 a.m., Marion County at 10:15 a.m. and Greenup County at 11 a.m.
